The recent presidential election has shown that there is an invitable reason why the democratic party can never with a national violory. It is that the youth of this republic is not democratic. The sons of democratic fathers have grown up republicans.

So long as slavery and the war linger within the memory of Americans the youth of this republic will continue to grow up to publicans, and slavery and the war will be remembered as long as the public school sys-gratitude should hold the south to a continual alliance with the democrats of the north. Where the gratitude comes in it is hard for us to see. The doughface democratic be war for the preservation of the union army. It is vain to affirm that the war for the preservation of the union could not have been carried to a successful close without the assistance of the democratic ocrats of the north egged on the south to rebellion by promises of a divided north. Without these promises the southern leaders would have seen the folly of secession. Did the northern democratic keep their promises to the south? To listen to some democratic speeches made during the late campaign, one would be almost persuaded to believe that the northern democrats did all the fighting in the war to suppress the all the fighting in the war to suppress the rebellion. After the war the copperhoads and doughfaces backed up Andrew Johnson to resist the ratification of the thirteenth and fourierable amendments to the constitution and the first reconstruction acts. South Carolina would have adopted the amendments, and would have made an tremedments, and would have made an tremedments. the amendments, and would have made an tremendous and invincible fact. The curse of acceptable constitution if such advice had not been given, and would have been admitted to the union in the winter of 1865, and would have been followed by Georgia.

The last instance quotable is the assection of BARNUM and KELLY that the new fraud cry in New York would not have been seriously pursued but for argent demands coming from Kentucky, Virginia and the south generally. The statement was a self-evident lie, but the telling of it shows how strong is the desire of these northern schemers to use the south once nore as the monkey used the cat. There is not an evil or a perplexity now afflicting the south which cannot be traced lirectly to its blind reliance upon the northern democratic leaders, who are all things to all men if by any means they may win the spoils.

A CRUMBLING BUILD.

The democratic party-or, rather, what there is left of it-is going to pieces rapidly. BARNUM's forgery performance has bursted, and the copareeners in crime are skulking to escape popular indignation. The bottom has fellen out of the conspiracy, and there is nothing left for HEWSTT, BARNUM & Co. When they reach that condition they will

The tearolied camp letters which the mother read doud in the long, bitter evenings while the coys clustered at her knees did not fall upon democratic ears. The girls' soles, blending profess to be able to tell the kind of annals by with the mother's weeping, did not make democrats of their brothers. Perhaps the made a noise tike researchers, and the sound of father had been a democrat all his life!

On its simple pages, in words of one or two syllables, is told the story of his birth and death. That story never made a democrat. In the prants of the playground the name silences the frollesome and makes the joiliest grave. That mame never made a democrat, which was once considered a good load. Better ears better engines and better tracks admit of this grave. That name never made a democrat.

In the pictures that light up the geography are the firing on Fort Sumter and the death of ELLAWORTH. Those pictures make no democrats. The first page of the history contains a representation of the surrender of Lie at Appointation. No long gazes on that and ever after avows himself a democrat.

The late defeat need not be attributed to of they were only incidental. The tariff as one. Sectionalism was a second, "Le oll enough alone," was a third. The Octer failure in Indiana was a fourth. But all these were trivial and together could not have accomplished the result. The result was accomplished because the youth of the republic is not democratic. That party is, therefore, without a future and without a hope. The malediction of the war has palsied its brain. The curse of slavery has poisoned its brain. The curse of slavery has politis blood and rotted its bone. Let it die.

How the democratic committeemen, congressmen, electors and lawyers are tryug to cat and run!

THE earliest and the latest slates are likely to come to grief in the months intervening between to-day and the meeting of the new congress.

THERE is no hurry about making a new ongressional apportionment. The next congress can make it. There will be more NATIONAL UNIVERSITY time for reflection.
